ORIGIN

Señoríos de Relleu is the outcome of Eliseo Quintanilla Almagro's curiosity, experience and origin. Born into a farming family in rural Cartagena, he decided early on in life to work in the world of pharmaceuticals, studying plants in search of purely natural means of making people feel better.

More than 20 years ago this led him to research the beneficial health properties of oleuropein, found in olive leaves. This was the start of a close bond with olive trees, a love he has wholeheartedly instilled into his youngest son Hugo since childhood.

LOCATION AND TERRAIN

The Masia Teuladi farmhouse, built in 1918, is only 10 km from the sea and nestles in a valley of almond groves and Aleppo pines, where gentle Mediterranean breezes take the edge off the often harsh mountain weather. Here, among the terraces, is where Eliseo and Hugo set up Señoríos de Relleu.

The chalky clay loam soil found in this area makes this the perfect spot for growing native varieties such as Manzanilla Villalonga, Blanqueta, Changlot Real, Alfafara and Genovesa alongside the highly prized Arbequina variety.

PIONEERS IN CONVEYING EMOTIONS WITH ALL 5 SENSES

Passionate people, places and projects infect everyone around them with their enthusiasm.

We want to share that passion with you, so this naïve-art style aluminium bottle designed by Paula Alenda shows the people who founded Señoríos de Relleu, the mountains, the Mediterranean, the Finca Teuladi estate ("teuladi" means sparrow in Valencian), the oil press, awards obtained at Terraolivo (Israel) and in Los Angeles (USA), and of course the olive trees and their fruit, whose delicious juice it contains.

OUR STORY

WE ARE A GASTRONOMIC GIFT

To fully preserve the first-class nutritional and sensory properties of EVOO (Extra Virgin Olive Oil), we decided to produce an innovative unbreakable, lightweight, hardwearing, recyclable and easy to use aluminum bottle that protects its contents from direct light.

OUR VARIETIES

Native varieties have their very own style, which typically features an excellent aroma, a fresh fruity flavour of freshly cut grass, combined with balance, stability and complete harmony, allowing complex pairings to be made.

We have a very small production because we produce oil only from our own trees and we have our own mill. Respecting the nature that surrounds our trees is a priority. We manage 100 ha. of área. They are all the product of a great family passion. This is all translated to local, limited production with the highest quality.

We harvest our own olives that we have nurtured with such care throughout the year in order to grind them within a few hours after they have been harvested. This is all done in the same estate. This way we obtain a high quality product, a real limited production olive juice.

KNOW THE WHOLE PROCESS

- Early collection in the middle of October.
- The time between harvesting and grinding the fruit is reduced as much as possible
- Once we have obtained the oil, we store it in stainless steel containers.
- Bottling in small lots.

OUR PRODUCT RANGE

All our 4 olive oils are extra virgin, and from the same extraordinary quality. They are all Coupages (Blends) of varieties with different intensity, aromas and aftertaste.

The differences among them lie on the different olive varieties used for each one. And because of the use of different varieties, each oil tastes different to the rest.

Our production is environment friendly and one of our coupage is certified by organic means.

"FIRST DAY OF HARVEST"

AGATHA RUIZ DE LA PRADA ♥

For years, at Señorios de Relleu, we had an unfinished goal: to amaze our clients with a "1st Day of Harvest" that meets the highest standards and truly delights them. To achieve this, we needed an outstanding image, an extraordinary EVOO, and a meaningful story.

Finally, at the beginning of 2024, during the ninth Cámara Business Club forum in Alicante, where Agatha Ruiz de la Prada was the guest speaker, we came up with the idea of creating something unique and special together.

TASTING

Describes the sensations transmitted by Extra Virgin Olive Oil (EVOO).

a) Visual Sensations: Color

Fill 1/5 of a wine glass, in spite of its attractive colour, the colour of the oil is not taken into consideration by professional tasters because it should not influence the olfactory and taste perceptions of the taster.

In this case appearance, tonality and greasiness are observed.

b) Olfactory Sensations: Aromas

To appreciate the aromas we must warm the glass, then turn the glass around itself and identify: Fruity Green or Mature, Herb, Apple, Almond, Tomato, Banana, Fig, Hay.....

c) Taste Sensations: Flavor and body

We must introduce in our mouth a little oil or small plates where bread can be dipped into the oil and perceive the: Bitter, Spicy, Texture, Flavor and Aftertaste.

10 THINGS THAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT EVOO

1.

It is really healthy!

The benefits of olive oil against cancer, diabetes, heart disease, osteoporosis, high blood pressure or obesity, are unrivaled.

2.

Cold Extraction / Cold Pressed

Back in pre-Industrial times, oil was made by literally pressing crushed olives. But today, producers use modern machines to separate oil. Neither process uses heat, but the older terminology somehow stuck, so people still look for the words “cold pressed” on labels as a sign of quality.

3.

Acidity

Olive oil acidity has nothing to do with taste. It is impossible for us to know if an olive oil has a more or less acidic taste only knowing it's level of acidity. Level of Acidity indicates that the fruit of the olive has undergone less damage, a good EVOO should never exceed 0.4°.

4.

Produced in Spain

Lots of places make great EVOO - and Spain is the biggest producer and the most awarded worldwide.

5.

Filter or Unfiltered

Filtered and unfiltered oil have the same health benefits and taste. But there is one major difference between both and that is shelf life. The olive particles in unfiltered olive oil will accelerate the oxidation. Filtering helps maintain stability and preserve the healthy qualities of it.

Identifying good olive oil

Look at the label for detailed information on origin, bottling or olive varieties used, and smell it when you open it; good extra virgin olive oil should smell fresh and fruity. You've Probably Been Drinking Rancid Oil Your Whole Life.

7.

Bitterness and spiciness

Both are good in oil. They indicate the presence of polyphenols - the antioxidants that help protect your cells from damage.

Shelf life

Shelf life of unopened olive oil is approximately 2 years and 3 months for opened olive oil.

9.

Its storage

Olive oil should be stored away from sunlight in a fresh place, between 10°C and 23°C.

10.

Cooking with olive oil?

Yes, of course. It is the only oil in the world that can reach higher temperatures than 180 °C. But we better recommend drizzle some over the food after the cooking.
